Join us for a unique and never to be repeated celebration of the capital's lost electric transport, 60 years since the operation of London's last tram and 50 years since London's last trolleybus served the city's streets.

Regular trolleybus services using only London trolleybuses

Relaunch into service of H1-class trolleybus 796

The largest number of London trolleybuses reunited since closure of the system in 1962

Regular FREE bus services using a variety of classic London buses
